

XIII International Colloquium on Gregory of Nyssa

Rome, 17-20 September 2014
Pontifical University of the Holy Cross

«The very name of Christ has become love to man» (φιλανθρωπία) (GNO VI, 107, 4-5)

Colloquium

The 13th International Colloquium on Gregory of Nyssa will be focused on In Canticum canticorum. This exegetical work belongs to the final part of Gregory's life and can be considered a genuine example of his mature thought and brilliant preaching.

The In Canticum canticorum shows one of the most distinguished characteristics of Gregory's thought, i.e. the deep interconnection between thought and spiritual life. This suggests a rich and valuable line of investigation for contemporary research.

Hopefully, after three Colloquia devoted to dogmatic works, the coming conference could be a new step towards a better understanding of Gregory's method and thought.

PhD Seminar

A short doctoral seminar will be held in the afternoon of the 20th of September from 3 to 6 pm. The aim of the seminar is to offer PhD students attending the conference the possibility of discussing their research with leading scholars in Rome.

It will also provide an interesting occasion to network with fellow students and share both experience and perspective.

Lewis Ayres (Durham)
Michel R. Barnes (Marquette)
Miguel Brugarolas (Pamplona)
Matthieu Cassin (Paris)
Sarah Coakley (Cambridge)
Scot Douglass (Colorado)
Volker H. Drecoll (Tübingen)
Hubertus Drobner (Paderborn)
Martin Laird (Villanova)
Morwenna Ludlow (Exeter)
Lenka Karfíková (Prague and Olomouc)
Claudio Moreschini (Pisa)
Ari Ojell (Helsinki)
Ilaria Ramelli (Milano)
Anna Silvas (New England)
Manlio Simonetti (Roma)
J. Warren Smith (Duke)
Johannes Zachhuber (Oxford)

Contact

Organizing Committee

Prof. Giulio Maspero
maspero@pusc.it

Prof. Miguel Brugarolas
mbrugarolas@unav.es

Dr. Ilaria Vigorelli
colloquium2014@pusc.it

PONTIFICAL UNIVERSITY OF THE HOLY CROSS
Piazza di Sant'Apollinare, 49
00186 Roma (Italia)
www.gregoryofnyssa.org